Welcome from Carol – Carole reminded attendees that the meeting minutes are published on the USAC website. Kolby Ferguson moved to approve last month's meeting minutes. The motion was seconded by Ashley Booker. The meeting minutes were approved by a majority vote.

- 2. Featured Speakers:
- Kris Henderson, Director of Compliance and Title IX Coordinator for UR with Jasleen Singh, Senior Paralegal for University Counsel
- Kris gave compliance updates. She has been in Compliance for 7 years. There has been a department name change, a new link, but the same focus; Title IX and Non-Discrimination – see website page – defines discrimination and harassment, protected status and retaliation – even if not a formal charge of discrimination – report it because it may result in a corrective action – report it!
- How to report incidents was covered; Title IX and Title VI were covered the helpline is a good tool for reporting – only Kris hears it if reported via the helpline; Khender3@richmond.edu; harassment, even if not directed at you should be reported; question from Ashley Blount – if full timelines are not known, should you still report it? Yes – report what you can and then they can have a conversation; the anonymous report often happens; Kris can partner with HR or the Dean of a school to investigate any reports; partner with other departments within the University – HR doesn't have an anonymous helpline, but Compliance does; report as much as possible – cannot always follow-up and give the outcome, but can follow-up and let you know something is being addressed if a name is given.

- 1:13 Rebecca Fender, Managing Director of Investor Relations of Spider • Management – she will give a high level overview of Spider Management; talk about the endowment; "what you do is why we exist"; she has worked throughout her career in asset management; the best practices out there are put into use at Spider Management; in 2001 Spider Management was founded as the name for the investment office of UR; 2008 Launched a private fund to offer investment services to other non-profits; Opened up Spider Management to investment services to other non-profits to show commitment to community; Revenues - from website; the endowment provides 40% of UR revenue; UR is in a good financial position due to the strong performance of the endowment; lists other Representative Partners often have UR grads at the other partners - two pools of assets - UR money and the private fund which includes other non-profit partners – this allows the other partners to get the same gross rate of return; the fees from the other non-profits support the Spider Management Office operating expenses; 23 people at Spider Management -Primary goal is to get great returns – over the long term returns have been driven by alternative investments. Spider has great access to these because it focuses on serving the non-profit sector.
- Objective of the endowment annual total return >= spending + inflation; similar approach as other universities such as Yale; long-term objective; equity bias in the portfolio; focus on diversification; able to weather any downturn; active management and focus on capital preservation. The long-term returns for the University have exceeded several different benchmarks; a lot of volatility in the market; but the key point, Spider Management protects the endowment during the downturns and helps the assets grow over time.

- Elections Matt Dewald There is an open seat in Dining Services several nominations have been received. The elections will open before winter break and for a week after the break;
- Communications; Mary Wheaton Representative profiles were posted will add a new one when the new dining rep is elected. The Facebook and Instagram posts are a way to distribute more information to staff who are not in front of computers daily. USAC members are asked to follow-and like the posts because that would help build traffic. The Facebook and Instagram posts are in line with our goals for USAC to be a conduit of communication;
- Ex-Officio Member Derek Miller announced that Jan. 20-23rd UR will celebrate MLK. There will be several events: service project on campus; YT Walker archive; Jan. 23 – march and gathering. Check the Bonner Center for Civic Engagement website for the activities.
- Treasury report the current balance is $5271.12
- 5. Web Submissions 1:49

Question – Lack of lighting behind HDC – new lighting was installed and bulbs were replaced; Facilities and Emergency Management will continue to assess; URPD has put 4 lights around the shed – please reach out if this does not fix the issue – URPD has requested that a web submission not be used for a safety issue – please contact them directly so that it can be addressed promptly.

Leave Policy Questions – comparison of non-PTO benefits to peer institutions; number of years of experience is not taken into account; the offer and the benefits including PTO are discussed in hiring; recent benchmarking of PTO with peer institutions results said that the benefits are comparable – new memo went out for two floating/optional holiday; with the opting out of health insurance, staff are awarded five more days of vacation; this is in the effort to contain benefits costs for everyone – two floating holidays need to be taken by the end of the calendar year; not fiscal year – this was an answer to question about different religious holidays.

PTO – leave policy – one type PTO v. different vacation and sick-day; in a recent benchmark survey, all but one peer institution uses the same leave policy as UR; a one-type of PTO program would blur the lines between sick and leave; having PTO and sick separate encourages employees to take the downtime needed;

Health Care – allow employees to opt-out; employees can choose $500 v. vacation days – may need to be reviewed again; the HSA participants are given $1000;

CPR course – why is UR charging for this? Some feel the course should be free like Stop the Bleed; $35 charge covers the cost for certification from institutions such as Red Cross – non-certification courses are offered by URPD for free- Wendy is a CPR instructor – usually costs $65-$100+ which goes to the Red Cross, not the University.
